We did

You said that some children were experiencing cyberbullying through electronic devices

We asked NSPCC trainers to lead assemblies and raise awareness of online safety.

Parents and carers asked for changes to be made regarding homework expectations

We surveyed the children around their learning preferences and relaunched a homework programme which involved a balance between remote learning and written methods.

You mentioned that a wider range of Reading resources and literature would benefit the pupils' progress and enjoyment in Literacy.

An excellent range of real books and e-learning book subscriptions were purchased. To promote quality reading experiences and aspirations all pupils enjoyed author visits. The children have accessed picture books, texts and multimedia in our revamped, vibrant book corners and mobile libraries.
